I. Purpose and Scope

A. Purpose.

This Policy describes the types of academic units through which the academic missions of the University are carried out by its faculty and supporting personnel, prescribes processes and criteria for initially establishing, periodically reviewing, and discontinuing such academic units; describes the faculties of the academic units and of the University as a whole; acknowledges the authority of the faculty for academic decision-making; describes procedures for meetings of the University faculty as a plenary body; establishes and describes a system of academic decision-making structures including various committees, the College Councils, and the Undergraduate Council and Graduate Council; and describes the general authority and responsibilities of the Academic Senate.

B. Scope.

This Policy applies to all of the University's faculty members, all of its academic units, and all of its academic administration officers.

For related information, refer to Policy 6-300, which describes the various categories and ranks of members of the faculty, including general voting rights for academic decision-making. Policy 2-005 establishes general duties of the officers assigned to administer the various types of academic units. Policy 6-002 governs the membership and procedures of the Academic Senate, and the membership and functions of the Senate Committees.

II. Definitions

The following definitions apply for the limited purposes of this policy and any associated regulations.

- A. Credentialed Academic Program — means the term as it is defined in Policy 6-500 (Curriculum Management and Administration): which provides: “each Degree, Major, Minor, Certificate, or Emphasis is considered to be a Credentialed Academic Program (“Credentialed Program”). Each such Credentialed Program is offered by a specific academic unit, is conferred by the University, and is awarded by the Office of the Registrar.”
- B. Course-offering unit — means the terms as it is defined in Policy 6-100-II (Instruction and Evaluation), which provides: "an academic unit authorized to offer credit-bearing courses and bearing primary responsibility for the content, instruction, and evaluation of such courses."

- C. Faculty-appointing unit — means an academic unit authorized by the cognizant vice president to make appointments of faculty members. Such authorization may be for limited authority allowing only for appointments of faculty members in certain specified categories, or full authority, allowing for appointments of faculty members in all categories. The applicable categories of appointments of faculty, as more fully described in Policy 6-300, are tenure-line (tenure-track and tenured), career-line (Clinical, Lecturer, Research), adjunct, and visiting faculty positions. The authorization of a unit to make any appointment to a tenure-line faculty position includes authorization for establishing tenure for that position within that unit (See Policies 6-301, 6-311). Any unit with either limited or full faculty-appointing authorization is also authorized to hire individuals in non-faculty academic personnel positions (which positions are described in Policy 6-309).

III. Policy

A. Academic Units and Academic Organizational Structure Generally.

1. Overview: Types of Academic Units.
 - a. Shared Governance Structures.

As further described below, academic activities furthering the academic missions of the University are carried out primarily by the members of the University faculty, supported and assisted in various ways by non-faculty academic personnel, students, and staff employees, working cooperatively within shared-governance academic decision-making structures. The work of the faculty, and those assisting and supporting the faculty, is organized through various academic units, each administered by an administrative officer of the University, reporting respectively to a cognizant vice president and ultimately the President of the University.

This Part III-A-1 serves as a descriptive overview of the various types of academic units and the roles of the faculty and administrative heads of such units, within the University's overall academic organizational structure. Part III-A-2 below governs the processes for establishing, modifying, and periodically reviewing performance of such units. The responsibilities of the administrative heads of such units, as officers of the University (college deans, department chairpersons, and others), and the processes for periodic reviews of their performance, are governed by Policy 2-005.

- b. Academic Departments and Free-Standing Divisions, Colleges, and Schools.
 - i. The academic department is the standard academic unit of the University and is the most common unit of instruction. A department generally offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees. All academic departments (including those structured as single-department academic colleges) are authorized as course-offering units, authorized as faculty-appointing units with full authority for appointments of faculty in all categories, and authorized to conduct academic research activities.

The administrative head of a department has the title of chairperson; the chairperson reports to the dean of the college to which the department belongs.

- A. Academic units that have the authority of an academic department but are given the title of "schools" are for all purposes treated as academic departments (but see Section III.A.1.b.iii below, for the few schools that are treated like academic colleges). Such a school is generally a large unit of instruction and should incorporate multiple areas of specialization that are reflected in the degrees offered. A school often includes interdisciplinary cooperative efforts. A school generally offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees. The administrative head of a school usually has the title of director, but the administrative level is equal to that of a department chairperson. The director reports to the dean of the college to which the school belongs.

- B. Free-standing divisions are also recognized as academic course-offering units and faculty-appointing units and are governed by policies on departments unless otherwise specified. A free-standing division is generally the smallest of these academic units in terms of the number of full-time equivalent tenure-line faculty positions. Such divisions may offer undergraduate and graduate degrees. The degree of budget autonomy for a division is decided by the college to which the division belongs. The administrative head of a free-standing division has the title of division chairperson; the chairperson reports to the dean of the college to which the division belongs.
- C. The designation of an academic unit as a department, school, or free-standing division is influenced by the mission of the unit, the relationship of the unit to the parent college, and disciplinary traditions across the country.
- D. For purposes of administration, departments, schools, and free-standing divisions are assigned to a parent academic college. The processes for initially establishing, periodically reviewing, and when appropriate discontinuing an academic department (or equivalent unit) are governed by Part III-A-2 below.
- E. Internal subdivisions that are not free-standing may also be established, typically within an academic department (including within a "single-department college" described below). They may serve various purposes, including conducting academic research, but they are not authorized as faculty-appointing units, and ordinarily will not be authorized as course-offering units. The administrative head of such an internal division most commonly has the title of director, but may be given the title of chairperson, or chief or area head, as determined appropriate by the cognizant vice president.

- ii. An academic college is usually an administrative organization of related department-level units (free-standing divisions, departments, or schools) and those encompassing two or more such department-level units are known as "multi-department colleges." Some academic colleges are structured such that they have no formal internal departmental-level academic subdivisions and these are known as "single-department colleges," with the scope of the single-department and the college being coextensive. These currently consist of: Law, Nursing, Dentistry, and Social Work.
 - A. The administrative head of an academic college has the title of academic dean, and the head of a single-department college has both the responsibilities of a dean and those typical of a department chairperson (as stated in Policy 2-005-III- A-5-f) (e.g. roles in faculty appointments and faculty review processes, per Policies 6-302, 6-303, 6-310). Each dean of an academic college reports to the cognizant vice president (either the senior vice president for Academic Affairs or senior vice president for Health Sciences).
 - B. The University, for historical and other reasons, includes the following units named "schools" that for all purposes function as academic colleges and are headed by academic deans: The School for Cultural and Social Transformation, The School of Dentistry, The Spencer Fox Eccles School of Medicine, and The David Eccles School of Business. There are currently seventeen academic colleges: 1. Architecture and Planning, 2. Business, 3. Cultural and Social Transformation, 4. Dentistry, 5. Education, 6. Engineering, 7. Fine Arts, 8. Health, 9. Humanities, 10. Law, 11. Medicine, 12. Mines and Earth Sciences, 13. Nursing, 14.

Pharmacy, 15. Science, 16. Social and Behavioral Science, and 17. Social Work.

C. The processes for initially establishing, periodically reviewing, and when appropriate discontinuing an academic college are governed by Part III-A-2 below.

- iii. For historical and other reasons, in some instances, as authorized by the cognizant vice president, the name "college" is used to refer to a unit of the University that is not an academic college and does not have the full authority of an academic college. Currently includes the "Honors College" (an interdisciplinary teaching program further described below).

In some instances, as authorized by the cognizant vice president, the title of "dean" is used for an administrative position that is not the head of an academic college (e.g., Dean of the Graduate School, Dean of Students, Dean of Undergraduate Studies, Dean of University Connected Learning). And the University includes numerous administrative units with the names "department," "division," or "program" that have neither course-offering nor faculty-appointing authority.

c. Interdisciplinary Academic Programs (of limited authority).

- i. In specific circumstances in which academic activities to be conducted are of an interdisciplinary character such that they cannot be effectively conducted either entirely within the ordinary structure of a single academic department (or equivalent unit) within an academic college, or entirely through cooperative arrangements among academic departments or colleges, a special interdisciplinary academic program may be established for that purpose, with the following limited authority.

Such units ordinarily may conduct academic research. As determined appropriate by the cognizant vice president, and subject to the establishment, modification, and periodic review procedures described below, such a program may be authorized as a course-offering unit, and if so authorized, the program may hire and assign non-faculty academic personnel (see Policy 6-309) to teach such courses.

Such units are not fully-authorized faculty appointing units. Under the terms of a specific formal agreement made between the program and another cooperating academic unit which has faculty appointing authority (ordinarily an academic department) and approved by the cognizant vice president, such a program may be granted limited authority to participate in a "shared-appointment" agreement, through which some portion of the work (described in the agreement as a percentage of full-time equivalent) of a faculty member whose formal faculty appointment is in that cooperating academic unit, is shared with the academic program. (This differs from a "joint appointment" status in which a faculty member has two separate appointments made directly in each of two fully authorized faculty-appointing units, per Policy 6-319).

Such a course-offering program may also be given limited authority to make direct appointments of instructional faculty (ordinarily in the Lecturer career-line category only) directly within the program, if approved as a Qualified Interdisciplinary Teaching Program (through the process governed by University Rule 6-310, which requires case-by-case approval of such Qualified status by the Academic Senate and cognizant vice president).

The names of and administrative reporting structures for such interdisciplinary programs may vary, as appropriate for their interdisciplinary character and selected functions. They are ordinarily called "program," but some are given other names. The administrative head ordinarily has the title of director, but other titles may be used. The administrative head may be assigned to report directly to an academic dean or directly to an associate vice president (who for purposes related to the program's offering of courses takes on some functions of a dean), and ultimately to the cognizant vice president.

- ii. The processes for initially establishing, periodically reviewing, and when appropriate discontinuing an interdisciplinary academic program are governed by Part III-A-2 below.
 - iii. Currently the interdisciplinary academic programs which have been authorized as course-offering units are: The Environmental and Sustainability Studies Program, The Honors College, The LEAP Program, and the Middle East Center. Those which have also been granted limited faculty appointing authority under the terms of University Rule 6-310 are listed within that Rule.
- d. The University of Utah Libraries.

The University of Utah Libraries consist of the following units, each headed by its director (or equivalent position): (i) the Marriott Library and its branches reporting directly to the senior vice president for academic affairs, (ii) the Eccles Health Science Library reporting directly to the senior vice president for health sciences and, (iii) the S. J. Quinney Law Library in the college of law reporting directly to the dean of the college of law and ultimately to the senior vice president for academic affairs. Pursuant to this reporting structure, the libraries are administratively independent of one another, but participate in cooperative activities, including being advised by the Senate Advisory Committee on Academic Policy (as described in Policy 6-002).

The libraries are not ordinarily authorized as course-offering units.

Each library is a fully authorized faculty-appointing unit, for appointing to positions within the categories of faculty of the libraries as are described in Policy 6-300.

Further information regarding the structure and functions of the libraries is provided in Policy 6-015—The University of Utah Libraries.

- e. Other Academic Units (Centers and Institutes – Rule 6-001UACI).
 - i. In addition to the academic departments (the primary type of unit, authorized to conduct all types of academic activities), the interdisciplinary academic programs, and the libraries, as are described here in Part III-A, the University authorizes certain types of academic activities to be conducted through other types of units, ordinarily University Academic Centers or University Academic Institutes (hereafter “UACIs”).
 - ii. These UACI units typically are authorized by the cognizant vice president to conduct academic research activities. They are not authorized faculty-appointing units, as they do not have authority to directly appoint any faculty of any category, but through specific formal agreements approved by the cognizant vice president may be authorized to engage in "shared-appointment" arrangements sharing the work of faculty members whose appointments are made directly in a cooperating academic unit (similar to the arrangements described above for interdisciplinary programs). Any direct faculty appointing authority may only be extended to such a unit through the process of approval of the unit as a Qualified Interdisciplinary Teaching Program per Rule 6-310.

These types of units are ordinarily not authorized as course-offering units, and ordinarily they participate in course activities only through an arrangement in which a course with which the unit has some association is formally offered through and administered by an academic department (or other authorized course-offering unit). Such a unit may only gain authorization to directly offer credit-bearing courses by obtaining status as an approved interdisciplinary academic program of the type described in Part III-A-1-c above, which includes obtaining approval as a course-offering unit through the process described in Part III-A-2 below.

- iii. Further information regarding UACI units: the contents of Policy 6-001 regarding UACIs are intended to be implemented through associated Regulations including a University Rule (Rule 6-001UACI) and related UACI Guidance. Those Regulations shall: (A) further describe the functions of UACIs; (B) set procedures and criteria for creating and periodically renewing/or discontinuing UACIs; (C) provide for a UACI coordinating committee to manage the processes of creating, reviewing and renewing/ or discontinuing UACIs; (D) ensure that creation and renewal procedures include consultation with other academic units potentially interested in or affected by activities of a UACI; (E) require a formal recommendation of the Academic Senate for creation of new UACIs, and regular reports to the Senate by the UACI coordinating committee; (F) require all new UACIs to have a trial period; (G) require that the organizational and governance structure of each UACI be described in a governance charter with a faculty shared-governance body overseeing academic activities and administrative officers overseeing fiscal management; and (H) require each UACI to have a funding and sustainability plan.
- f. Updating Lists and Names of Units.

The lists and specific names of existing academic units and titles of administrative positions in current usage appearing above in Part III-A-1 of this Policy may be updated whenever needed by authorization of the cognizant vice president presented to the Chairperson of the Institutional Policy Committee.

2. Creation, Review, and Discontinuance of Academic Units.

a. Proposal Approvals.

Except as otherwise specified in this Policy or an associated Rule, proposals to create, modify, or discontinue academic units are considered first by the Graduate Council, then by the Academic Senate, and then by the Board of Trustees.

b. Procedures and Principles (Rule 6-001CMP).

Further information regarding creation, significant modification, review, and discontinuance of academic units.

i. Procedures for creation, significant modification, review, and discontinuance of academic units.

A. Academic colleges, academic departments, freestanding academic divisions. [Reserved-- work in progress.]

B. Interdisciplinary academic programs with curricular responsibilities. [Reserved-- work in progress.]

C. University libraries. [Reserved-- work in progress.]

D. University Academic Centers or Institutes. The procedures for creation, significant modification, review, and discontinuance of University Academic Centers or Institutes shall be described in Regulations associated with this Policy, including a University Rule (Rule 6-001UACI) and UACI Guidance.

ii. Principles for creation and review of academic units with curricular responsibilities.

A. Curricula Management Process and Plan. An academic unit that has primary curricular responsibility for any Credentialed Academic Program, or is a course-offering unit of any credit-bearing course, shall have a curricula management process for developing, periodically assessing, and modifying the curricula over which that unit has primary responsibility. The process shall be appropriate for the type of curricular responsibilities of the unit, and shall be described in a written curricula management plan of the unit.

- B. For new academic units, the curricula management plan shall be included with the proposal for initial establishment of the unit. For existing units, the plan shall be submitted at or before the time of the University's next Seven Year Academic Unit Review of that unit. These plans will be reviewed as part of the University's Seven Year Academic Unit Reviews of academic units, and should also be reviewed whenever a unit undergoes extensive organizational changes significantly affecting the unit's curricula management responsibilities.
- C. This Part III-A-2-b-ii of Policy 6-001 is intended to be implemented through associated Regulations, including a University Rule 6-001CMP and CMP Guidance, which shall provide further details of the procedures and requirements for Curricula Management Plans, and for review of such Plans as part of Seven Year Academic Unit reviews.

B. Faculties of the University -- Composition and Authority.

1. Composition of Faculties.

- a. To carry out their individual and collective responsibilities as the primary academic workforce of the University, the individuals holding faculty appointments (as defined in Policy 6-300) within the University are organized into various faculties (groups). For faculty members appointed to academic departments, each individual is at minimum a member of (i) the faculty of the academic department in which the individual's primary faculty appointment is made, (ii) the faculty of the college in which the department is situated, and (iii) the faculty of the University overall. For faculty members appointed to one of the libraries, each individual is a member of the particular library faculty and the faculty of the University. For faculty members appointed directly in one of the interdisciplinary academic programs (see Part III-A-1-c above), each individual is a member of the faculty of that program and the faculty of the University. When an individual holds joint appointments to two academic departments (Policy 6-319), or a shared appointment to a department and an interdisciplinary program or a center or institute (Part III-A-1- c, and-e above), or both a primary appointment in one unit and any adjunct appointment in any other faculty-appointing unit, the individual is a member of the faculties of those multiple units.

- b. Within each of the faculties of which they are a member, each individual has the responsibilities and rights of a faculty member, as described in the Code of Faculty Rights and Responsibilities—Policy 6-316, and the voting rights for each category of faculty are as provided in Policy 6-300-III supplemented by the Statement applicable for career-line faculty of a particular academic unit pursuant to Policy 6-310. (And see Policy 6-010-III, regarding academic grievances related to duties and rights for participation by faculty members in department, college and University governance.)

2. Faculties of Academic Departments, Academic Colleges, University Libraries, and other Academic Units.

- a. Department (and similar unit) faculties. For each authorized faculty-appointing unit, or appointment-sharing unit (academic department/school/ freestanding division, academic library, interdisciplinary academic program, or center or institute), the individuals with direct or shared faculty appointments in that unit collectively constitute the faculty of that unit.
- b. College faculties. An academic college faculty shall consist of the dean of the college and such members of departments, schools, and freestanding divisions, and any other academic units within the college pursuing research or offering a major, a teaching major, or prescribed work in the college as are eligible to membership in the University faculty (as defined in Policy 6- 300). The University President shall be a nonvoting ex officio member of all college faculties. If a department (or other academic unit) serves more than one college, the department chairperson may designate a member to represent the department at meetings of the faculties of colleges other than that to which the department is assigned for administrative purposes without abrogating the right of other members of the department to participate and vote in the meetings of such faculties.

- c. Faculty governance-equivalent committees for non-appointing units. For academic units that do not directly appoint faculty, but through which substantial academic activities are carried out by affiliated faculty members (e.g., centers, institutes, and other programs), special-purpose academic governance committees are established and assigned responsibilities approximating as nearly as practically possible the roles of faculties in governance of academic departments and colleges (e.g., decision-making power on curricular matters, in keeping with the principles in Part III-B-3 below). Such committees are comprised with a majority of voting-qualified members of the University faculty. The contents of Policy 6-001 regarding University Academic Centers or Institutes (UACIs) are intended to be implemented through associated Regulations, including a University Rule (Rule 6-001UACI), and UACI Guidance.

3. Authority of the Faculties, and Procedures for Actions of the University Faculty as a Whole (Plenary).

- a. Authority of Faculties of Academic Departments, Colleges, and other Academic Units.

The faculty of each academic department, academic college, or other academic unit, shall have, subject to the approval of the Academic Senate and appeal to the University faculty, jurisdiction over all questions of educational policy affecting that academic unit, including requirements for entrance, graduation, and major, and prescribed subjects of study.

Majors shall be authorized by the college faculty concerned, but the content of the major shall be determined by the department or departments in which it is given. Majors and their content shall be subject to the review of the Academic Senate in accord with Part III-D of this Policy.

A statement of the action taken upon educational policy by any academic unit faculty shall be presented at the next regular meeting of the Academic Senate for consideration and action thereon.

b. Authority of the University Faculty.

The University faculty shall have authority, subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees, to legislate on matters of educational policy, to enact such rules and regulations as it may deem desirable to promote or enforce such policies, and to decide upon curricula and new courses of study involving relations between colleges or departments. The faculty has a right to a meaningful role in the governance of the University including primary responsibility for course content and materials, degree requirements, and curriculum; it has a right to participate in decisions relating to the general academic operations of the university including budget decisions and administrative appointments.

“(4) (a) Except as provided in Subsection (4)(b), without the approval of the [Utah Board of Higher Education], an institution of higher education may not: (i) establish a branch, extension center, college, or professional school; or (ii) establish a new program of instruction.

(b) An institution of higher education may, with the approval of the institution of higher education's board of trustees, establish a new program of instruction that meets the criteria described in Subsection (3).” Utah Code Ann. 53B-16-102 (2020).

The legislative power of the University faculty collectively will normally be exercised by the faculty through their representatives in the Academic Senate and the college and Graduate and Undergraduate councils, except that the members of the University faculty with voting rights (determined as described in Policy 6-300-III, including majority role of the tenure-line faculty) shall have the appellate power to review all actions affecting educational policy, including legislation enacted by the Academic Senate, whenever an appeal is made from the Senate to the faculty as hereinafter provided.

The authority of the faculty and of the Academic Senate is based on state law, the regulations of the Utah Board of Higher Education, and regulations promulgated by the University President and approved by the Board of Trustees. Whatever in this document is in conflict with these is of no effect. Utah Code Ann. 53B-1-101 et seq. (2020).

In all matters, except those granted to the Academic Senate, the faculty shall have original jurisdiction. Whenever the faculty is acting within its province as here designated, its actions shall be effective without approval unless they involve an increase in the expense of instruction or administration. Whenever such an increase is involved, whether by action of the University faculty, the Academic Senate, or a college faculty, the University President shall report the action to the Board of Trustees with the University President's recommendations.

c. Members and Officers of the University Faculty.

The University faculty shall consist of the University President, vice presidents, deans, directors of libraries, and the categories of faculty described in Policy 6-300.

The President of the University is the chairperson of the faculty. In the University President's absence, the vice president for academic affairs shall preside. The faculty shall have a secretary, who need not be a member of the faculty, appointed by the President at the beginning of each autumn semester for the academic year. The secretary shall be an ex officio member of the Academic Senate. The secretary shall record all action of the faculty and the Academic Senate and preserve all records in a form convenient for reference.

d. University Faculty Meetings Procedures.

Regular quarterly meetings may be held at a time decided upon by the faculty. Special meetings of the faculty may be held at any time and may be called by the University President or the Academic Senate. The vice president for academic affairs shall announce the number of total voting faculty at the beginning of each academic year. Special meetings for the consideration of specified agenda shall also be called by the University President on the written petition of at least five percent of the voting faculty. To insure a wide distribution of faculty sentiment, not more than one-half of the signatures presented on such a petition shall be counted from any college. No action pertaining to any department shall be considered at a special meeting unless the chairperson of the department has been duly notified.

Any number over ten percent of the voting faculty shall constitute a forum for discussion, but no vote shall be binding with less than fifty percent of the tenure-line voting faculty in attendance and with the support of less than a majority of those tenure-line faculty in attendance (in keeping with the "primary role" principle of Policy 6-300-III-B-2).

Non-faculty members of the Academic Senate shall have the right to attend all meetings of the faculty. On the invitation of the University President, persons holding teaching and research positions not defined in Policy 6-300 as members of the faculty may attend meetings of the faculty and may participate in the discussion of any or all questions.

Nonmembers of the voting faculty, as this is described in Policy 6-300, may neither vote nor introduce formal motions in faculty meetings.

Every member of the faculty shall have free and equal voice in its deliberations. Should the faculty be equally divided on any question, the University President shall have one vote in addition to one vote as a member of the faculty.

The agenda for special as well as general faculty meetings shall be announced to faculty members and all others authorized to attend or invited to the meeting at least one week in advance of the meeting. In case of emergency the University President may waive this time restriction.

University Faculty Meetings Order of Business

- i. Roll call, when requested by the University President
- ii. Announcements and communications
- iii. Reports from the officers of administration, college and Graduate and Undergraduate councils, and committees
- iv. Unfinished business
- v. New business
- vi. Adjournment

C. Academic Governance Committees and Councils.

1. Committees and Councils of Academic Departments, Academic Colleges, University Libraries, and other Academic Units.
 - a. Departmental Committees.

Each academic department and other academic unit shall establish such committees as appropriate to carry out the academic functions of the unit and as required by pertinent University Regulations. For authorized course-offering units these may include curriculum oversight committees (consistent with the Curriculum Management Processes and Plans required by this Policy 6-001 and Policy 6-500), and for faculty-appointing units these shall include faculty appointments committees (per Policy 6-302), and include faculty review committees (per Policies 6-303 and 6-310). Such committees shall be composed in keeping with the fundamental principle of the authority of the faculty of the unit over academic matters.

- b. College Councils and Committees within Academic Colleges.
 - i. College councils. In accord with Policy 6-003 college councils are created by the academic colleges of the University with compositions defined by the colleges involved and described in council charters, which compositions and charters are subject to the approval of the Senate Executive Committee and subsequently submitted for the Information of the Senate. College councils may include councils serving more than one college where appropriate. Such councils shall have decision-making authority, as stated in Policy 6-003, subject to review by the Executive Committee of the Academic Senate and subject to the power of the Academic Senate to legislate on matters of general University concern.
 - ii. College committees. Academic colleges shall establish such standing committees as are appropriate to carry out the academic functions of the colleges and as required by Policy 6-003, the Curriculum Management Plans required under this Policy 6-001 and Policy 6-500, and other pertinent University Regulations, and these standing committees shall be described in the charters of the councils.

- c. Committees within Other Academic Units (Interdisciplinary Academic Programs; Centers and Institutes—UACI).
 - i. Interdisciplinary Academic Programs shall establish such committees as are appropriate to carry out their functions, consistent with this Policy 6-001 (including the requirement of Curriculum Management Plans), and with Rule 6-310 for Qualified Interdisciplinary Teaching Programs.
 - ii. University Academic Centers and Institutes shall establish such committees as are appropriate to carry out their functions, consistent with this Policy 6-001, and with Rule 6-001UACI.
2. Committees of the University—Composition and Authority.
 - a. University Committees (other than Committees of the Academic Senate).

The University President shall appoint, before the opening of the academic year, such standing committees as the work of the University may require. Special committees may be appointed at any time as the University President may deem wise, which shall report to the Academic Senate, or to the appropriate council, or to the University President the progress of their work and their recommendations.

The University President or Administration will notify the Senate Personnel and Elections Committee (a standing committee of the Academic Senate) about the creation of any University-wide standing committees. Upon the creation or reorganizing of a University-wide standing committee, the Senate Personnel and Elections Committee will review the committee charter and membership requirements, and shall make any requested nominations, and subsequently shall make requested nominations for the replacement of members as needed. (See Policy 6-002-III-D-1-c- "Functions of SPEC").

Committees of the faculty shall act only within the limits set for them. The University President shall be an ex officio member of all committees of the faculty.

Faculty committees, other than Academic Senate committees, must report to the faculty the progress of their work and any action taken and shall act only within the limitations placed upon them.

b. Academic Senate Committees.

Standing and special committees of the Academic Senate are established under and governed by the terms of Policy 6-002.

3. Councils of the University—Graduate, Undergraduate, Academic Deans.

a. Three University-wide Councils.

In addition to the system of college councils (Part III-C-1 above), there are three University-wide councils: The Graduate Council, the Undergraduate Council, and the Council of Academic Deans.

b. Graduate Council—Composition and Authority.

The Graduate Council is hereby established within the system of academic governance of the University. As more fully described in Policy 6-200 and associated University Regulations, the Council supervises graduate study at the University, and reviews and evaluates proposals for new graduate degrees and certificates and for name changes or major revisions of units. The Graduate Council, however, may delegate the administration of professional degrees to colleges or departments. The Council is responsible for the review and evaluation of all existing departments and programs that award graduate and undergraduate degrees and certificates. The Undergraduate Council participates with the Graduate Council in the review of undergraduate programs based in departments awarding graduate degrees. The Graduate Council also reviews and evaluates proposals for new academic administrative units

(e.g., departments, divisions), and proposals for name changes or major revisions of the preceding, and conducts or participates in periodic reviews of such academic units, through the processes described above in Part III-A-2. With regard to University Academic Centers and Institutes, the Graduate Council has those specific functions that are provided for by Part III-A-2 above, as implemented through Rule 6-001UACI. The Council assumes other responsibilities as established by University Regulations or Utah Board of Higher Education Policy.

The Graduate Council members shall be appointed by the University President on recommendation of the dean of the Graduate School. Nominations of faculty members will be made by College Councils for communication by the college dean to the dean of the Graduate School. Nominations of student members will be made by the Associated Students of the University of Utah (ASUU) for communication by the ASUU president to the dean of the Graduate School. Faculty members on the Council shall represent all colleges offering degrees under the jurisdiction of the Graduate Council. Student membership shall be limited to three members, two graduate and one undergraduate, broadly representative of the colleges of the University.

The Graduate Council shall establish policies and procedures for the Graduate School, such policies and procedures being subject to review by the Academic Senate.

c. Undergraduate Council--Composition and Authority.
